SANTA FE, N. M., July 21.—
Premier Secretary of the Interior Albert B. Fall became No. 6991 in the New Mexico State Penitentiary today. He was committed last night to serve a year and a day for accepting $100,000 bribe from Edward L. Doheny, wealthy oil man, for leasing the Elk Hills naval oil reserve to one of Doheny's companies.He arrived here in an ambulance from El Paso, Tex., by way of his home at Three Rivers, N. M.
Heart stimulants were administered en route. On arrival, Fall was taken immediately to a private room in the prison hospital.Dr. J. H. Gambrell, his physician, said Fall was in "no condition to be confined."United States Marshal Joseph F.
Rode wired Pardon Attorney John C. Quinn of the Department of Justice at Washington that Fall had been committed. President Hoover and the Department of Justice have been urged to grant Fall a pardon. A pardon is never granted until after actual commitment to prison.Fall left El Paso, Tex., Saturday and went to his Tres Ritos ranch.
He stayed there two days and year-day afternoon began the 327-mile trip to the prison here, arriving here at 10 p. m.In his only talk with newspapermen, shortly before he reached Santa Fe, Fall said he felt weak.Newspaper men were barred from interviewing him inside the prison.None of the members of Fall's family entered the prison with him. Their farewells were said outside of Santa Fe. Warden Harding chose him for Secretary of the Interior, the first Cabinet member in the history of the United States to go to prison for a crime committed while in office.

$49,785 in New York.NEW YORK, July 21.—Three suits against German banks were filed in Supreme Court today. Two were brought by Jesse Price against the Darmstadt and National Bank & Kommanditgesellschaft Aktien, Berlin, for a sum of $100,000. The third action and Bremen, for $39,673.One of the Price suits is for $100,000 and the other for $39,673.

tions were filed, informing the defendants that unless answers are filed within 20 days judgment will be taken by default. Interest from July 12, last, is demanded in both suits. The Bank of America action demands it paid out the amount demanded on drafts for the benefit of the F. Schroder Bank over the credit of the German bank. The Price suits were made under an arrangement with the defendant, the plaintiff declares.

WHEAT PUT TO NEW
USES IN SOUTHWESTTheaters, Newspapers, Dentists
Accept It as Cash; Old Mills in Operation.

By the Associated Press.

KANSAS CITY, Mo., July 21.—
With wheat down to 25 cents a bushel, farmers in the Southwest are not only using it as a medium of exchange in many instances, but also are finding numerous uses in the consumption heretofore unknown.In the Texas Panhandle theaters are admitting farmers and their families for a specified amount of wheat; dentists exchange dental work for it; mills accept it in exchange for flour and almost every newspaper in the section is paying above market price for the wheat for subscriptions.So far, however, grocers, clothing merchants, machinery dealers and others who do any considerable amount of business with farmers have not adopted the plan.
Old mills all over the Texas wheat country have been repaired and put into operation, and are exchanging flour for the raw grain.
Some of them produce only the whole wheat product, but their business is heavy nevertheless.Many farmers are feeding their wheat to poultry, dairy cows and hogs.WILKINS HOPES TO RESUME

under their own power today. If they do so satisfactorily, only a few

AIR MAIL FLYER KILLED IN CRASH ILLINOIS STORM

F. Edward Hamann, Substituting for Another Pilot on Route to Evansville, Ind., Falls Near Centralia

MOTOR 'MISSING,' WITNESS REPORTS

Aviator Delayed Start Here for Three Hours but Left When Better Weather Was Promised.

F. Edward Hamann, flying the night air mail between St. Louis and Evansville, Ind., temporarily for another pilot, who was on vacation, was killed early today when his plane crashed near Hoffman, Ill., nine miles west of Centralia. Hamann left Lambert-St. Louis Field at 1:35 a. m., having delayed his departure more than three hours because of rain and bad flying weather. Receiving a report of more favorable weather, Hamann took off with a load of mail for Southern cities.

According to reports received here at the headquarters of American Airways, by which Hamann was employed, the plane ran into a severe rainstorm about 40 minutes after its departure from St. Louis. Robert Bachs, a farmer, residing near Hoffman, reported the ship circled his place several times. The motor sounded as if it were missing. Bachs reported, and the plane spun to earth close to the farm house. Hamann was dead when removed from the wreckage. The Bachs farm is about three miles off the regular mail route.

The plane did not catch fire, and 15 bags of mail were only slightly damaged. The mail was taken to Centralia and placed on another plane.

Hamann was the son of the Rev. W. F. Hamann, a former Webster Groves minister, who was a member of the Christian Church at Louisiana, Mo. Young Hamann, who was 27 years old, was born in Webster Groves. He had been flying five or six years and was a transport pilot.

For the last two years Hamann was operations manager for American Airways at Evansville, a job which kept him on the ground the greater part of the time. He took over the run of one of the regular pilots yesterday, arriving here shortly before noon with mail from Evansville.

Hamann lived at Evansville with his wife and 2-year-old son. Mrs. Hamann is a daughter of Dr. E. M. Folsom, 2274 Yale avenue, Maplewood.

U. S. GAINS $200,000,000 IN GOLD IN TWO MONTHS

Loss by Reichsbank Is Chief Reason; Shipment of $80,000,000 Received in One Week.

WASHINGTON, July 21.—Loss of $200,000,000 in gold and $20,000,000 in foreign exchange by the Reichsbank from May 31 to June 23, which brought the bank's gold reserve down to almost the legal minimum, is cited by the Federal Reserve Board as the chief reason the United States gained $200,000,000 in gold in two months ending June 24.

During the two months in which the United States gained $200,000,000 in gold, bringing its total to $4,957,000,000, it received $90,000,000 in one week, that ending June 17, which the board said was the largest addition to the gold stock in a similar period in the history of the country. Reviewing the world gold situation, the board said that France and the United States had been the principal recipients of gold since 1925.

TWO IN LOCOMOTIVE KILLED
When Train Hits Stalled Auto Engineer and Fireman Thrown From Cab by Explosion of Gasoline Tank of Car.

BERWYN, Md., July 21.—The engineer of a Washington-bound Baltimore & Ohio railroad express, and his apprentice engine driver, were killed today when their locomotive struck a sedan stalled on a grade crossing here.

Al Ward, the engineer, set the air brakes just as the gasoline tank of the automobile exploded, throwing burning gasoline into the engine cab, and hurling him from it. L. R. Walter, the apprentice engineer also was thrown from the cab and killed. J. W. Lundy, the fireman, was seriously burned by the gasoline but took the train into Washington. The sedan had been abandoned by Miss Ethel Thomas, its driver and only occupant, after it stalled on the tracks.

MacDonald in Keynote Speech At London Conference Calls for Quick Action in Aiding Germany

Declares Essential Purpose Is to Restore Confidence—Praises President Hoover for Taking the Initiative.

By the Associated Press.

THE following is the text of the keynote address of Prime Minister Ramsay MacDonald, delivered at the formal opening of the international conference in London last evening:

In the name of the Government, and of the whole nation, indeed, I give you all a most cordial welcome.

I should like to indicate the purpose which His Majesty's Government thinks this conference should serve.

The present moment may be one of the turning points in the history of the world, for good or ill. If we cannot find a solution of the present crisis no one can foretell the political and financial dangers which will ensue. If we can find such a solution it will be a striking proof of the growing effectiveness of international co-operation.

During the past two years the economic life of the world has been thrown out of gear by an unprecedented severe fall in prices. For example, wheat has fallen over 50 per cent, cotton 60 per cent, rubber 80 per cent, and so on with practically all the primary commodities.

The countries which are engaged in the production of these commodities have, in consequence, been forced to restrict drastically their purchases of industrial goods and world trade has suffered from a persistent, calamitous decline.

This fall in prices has greatly accentuated the burden of all debts and has involved budget and financial difficulties for all debtor countries. But its effects have been felt in most acute form by what I may call international industrial and financial states, and the very special position of Germany, both as an exporting and debtor state, has concentrated upon it to a supreme degree all the problems which other states have had to face in a less critical manner.

The German Government has increased taxation and imposed sacrifices on their people, but they felt bound to declare last month that they could go no further. The German Government has to use their right to declare a postponement of their liabilities under the Young plan unless the situation improves. This is a heavy burden to place upon those who support Germany, upon whose support Germany has been largely dependent during the last six years, and withdrawals of short-term credits ensued on a very large scale.

Praise for Hoover.

By June 15 their position appeared almost hopeless, when the whole face of the world was changed in half an hour by the dramatic announcement of President Hoover's offer. History will pronounce this decision as an act of rare courage and statesmanship. It is no small thing to ask the people of the United States, far removed as they are from Europe, and themselves at grips with a domestic slump of unprecedented severity, to suspend for a year all their claims in respect to intergovernmental debts. But in my belief, it was also a stroke of sound business. Its effect at the outset was startling, not only did the value of securities rise with a bound, but even the price of commodities advanced.

War debts and reparations are not self-liquidating obligations like loans made for productive purposes. They can only be paid by exporting goods to the creditor countries or, in so far as there are obstacles to the movement of goods, by the export of gold. Thus and payment of reparations and war debts in a time of economic depression presents peculiar difficulties, and the knowledge that these difficulties exist weakens the confidence of investors, and this in turn enhances the original difficulties, so that a vicious circle is created. The Gordian knot was for the moment successfully cut by the President's beneficent sword; but foreign credits in Germany continued to be withdrawn.

It has been stated by the German Minister of Finance that from 150,000,000 to 200,000,000 pounds of foreign exchange have been lost by Germany, representing a colossal sum, representing as it does more than the equivalent of two years of reparations payments. The trickles of exchange purchases become a stream, the stream a river, and the river a torrent, until the inevitable breakdown occurred.

Thus we have now not merely to consider the measures necessary to carry into effect President Hoover's proposal, but we have to add to that the urgent emergency that has since developed in Germany.

Otherwise it will be difficult to stay the flood before it has overwhelmed the whole of Central Europe with consequences social and political, as well as purely financial, which no man can estimate.

Must Restore Confidence.

If the foreign investor had retained his normal confidence in Germany her position would have remained safe and we should not be meeting here under these circumstances. As regards her budget, her balance of trade, her economic and industrial organization, great efforts and sacrifices have been made and her position showed no radical defects.

Our position therefore, in a word, is to restore the confidence of the foreign investor in Germany. Clearly, the problem has both political and financial sides, but the mind of this conference is to be concentrated on the political side.

WOMAN COMMUNIST ORDERED DEPORTED

Edith Berkman, Labor Organizer to Take Appeal to Courts.

By the Associated Press.

BOSTON, July 21.—The deportation of Poland of Miss Edith Berkman, young organizer for the National Textile Workers' Union, a communist body, was ordered today by the Department of Labor, Mrs. Anna C. M. Tillinghast, Immigration Commissioner, announces.

Miss Berkman was arrested in a recent textile strike in Lawrence, Mass., and more recently was active in labor affairs in Maynard, Mass.

After her arrest, Miss Berkman said she was born in Los Angeles, but the authorities said she was admitted to the country from Poland in 1921.

The charge upon which the deportation order was issued was that Miss Berkman was affiliated with an organization which advocates, teaches, or believes in the overthrow of the Federal Government by force or violence.

Counsel for Miss Berkman said she would apply for a writ tomorrow to stay proceedings. She is at liberty under $5000 bond.

Miss Anna Burial, 29-year-old Communist strike organizer, today was released by immigration authorities after they were satisfied that she was a citizen. A birth certificate received by the Immigration Commissioner showed that Miss Burial, who was arrested in Pawtucket, R. I., last week, was a native of St. Louis, Pa.

STIMSON AT LONDON STATES U. S. POSITION ON AID TO GERMANY

Great Britain maintain that speed is essential.

In support of this contention it was said Chancellor Brüning does not know from one moment to the next how long his Government will last, and there are many who assert that Germany has been menaced with revolution for some time.

It is understood Chancellor Brüning ought to return to Berlin on Wednesday night and that the Americans and British at least feel it necessary that he take back with him definite promises of help.

Those who uphold this course assert that if the Chancellor should go back empty handed it might mean the end of his Government.

The international conference considered the methods of international co-operation whereby confidence in Germany's economic stability may be restored in the immediate future as a preliminary to examination of further measures which may be necessary to effect a permanent restoration of Germany's financial situation on a firm basis.

It was agreed that the Finance Ministers of the countries represented at the conference, with Dr. Brüning and Prime Minister MacDonald, should meet this afternoon to continue examination of the questions raised.

At the meeting of Finance Ministers the discussions are likely to come down to matters of dollars and cents, and at a full conference later decision probably will be taken as to whether measures suggested by the financial experts actually can be put into force.

Short Term Loans Considered.

It is understood the American delegation, if it puts forward proposals of its own, would do so more with the idea of getting the German Government to agree to an immediate long-term credit of $75,000,000 in favor of a request for immediate short-term credits.

Two Main Alternatives.

As regards the financial aspect of the crisis, the question of what can be done must largely be reserved for bankers and central banks, which can only speak in general terms. There seem to be two main alternatives. The one is to find the means of providing new loans or credits to Germany. That is a matter that I understand has been under consideration in Paris. I am told that there are difficulties which would have to be surmounted before any loan could be obtained in the market here.

We must consider this. It may be a solution. It may not. But a solution, mutually possible and effective for its purpose, must be found.

The other way would be to attack directly the question of whether by strengthening the internal position of Germany we can give an assurance of its stability to the outside world so as not only to prevent the capital that is already in Germany from being withdrawn, but to enable it to be augmented.

There can be no question about the inherent strength of the German economy provided that it has the capital resources that it requires. It is for this purpose that President Hoover proposed the suspension for a year of all debts and reparations. This represents for Germany a very real and important relief. It may not prove to be sufficient; that is a point we can examine later. But I think our first step is to decide with the greatest certainty possible the means by which this relief shall be definitely carried into effect. I emphasize: The greatest possible expedition. Time is against us. Every day adds to the risks of collapse which will be outside of human control.

I propose that we hear the report of what has taken place at Paris, because at that point we must begin our work. The conferences which have taken place between the French and Germans ought to prove of infinite assistance to us, and we are all glad that they have been held. So I, in the name not only of the Government but of the whole country, welcome you all here as colleagues in a great undertaking and declare our conference open.

WOMAN ATTACKED IN CAR BY SLAYER OF HER ESCORT

Stranger Murders Youth in Parked Truck Near Colorado Springs and Escapes.

By the Associated Press.

COLORADO SPRINGS, Colo., July 21.—Local authorities are searching for a young man who last night shot and killed Louis J. Palmer, 19 years old, then assaulted Palmer's companion, Miss Glen-da King, 15. The slayer was described by Miss King as being about 23 years old. He wore overalls and a leather jacket.

Palmer and Miss King were seated in a parked truck on the edge of Prospect Lake in the east end of the city last night when the assailant stepped from behind a tree and ordered them to hold up their hands. The man pressed a revolver against Palmer's side and said she heard a report and saw Palmer fall to the floor of the car shot through the heart.

large enough to tide them over the present crisis, in the expectation that by autumn confidence in Germany will have been restored to such an extent that the political guarantees sought by France will no longer be necessary.

The German delegates were the first to arrive today at the conference, which was held at the Foreign Office just across from 10 Downing street, the residence of the Prime Minister. Herr Brüning, Dr. Curtius and German Ambassador von Neurath called at MacDonald's residence before the meeting and talked with him for a few minutes.

The Germans emerged from the Prime Minister's residence together and were followed a few moments later by MacDonald, who was accompanied by a detective. Secretary of State Stimson and Secretary of the Treasury Mellon slipped into the Foreign Office by a back entrance.

Premier Laval, Foreign Minister Grandi of Italy and other Ministers submitted willingly to photographers. Foreign Minister Briand of France was the best natured of the lot despite two great scratches on his face which were apparently he cut himself when shaving.

Brüning worked until long after midnight and had only a brief sleep. He was frequently on the telephone, and the French Ministers also had a direct line to Paris.

Prime Minister MacDonald and Foreign Secretary Henderson probably will go to Berlin with Chancellor Brüning and Foreign Minister Curtius when the seven-Power conference here ends, it was learned today. MacDonald, who has insisted throughout the recent negotiations that a re-establishment of confidence in Germany is the prime need of the moment, wants to make a public demonstration of Great Britain's confidence, it was said, and incidentally to return the visit the German statesmen paid to Chequers recently.

In opening the conference last night MacDonald declared that "the present moment may be one of the turning points of the history of the world, for good or ill."

"If we cannot find a solution of the present crisis," he said, "no one can foretell the political and financial dangers which will ensue. If we can find such a solution it will be a striking proof of the growing effectiveness of international co-operation."

Speeches also were made by Premier Laval, who explained that at the negotiations concluded Sunday in Paris, to do their utmost to bring about a solution which would make financial and political collaboration possible, and by Chancellor Brüning, who gave his version of the economic plight of his country.

The Herald's diplomatic expert said it is "very possible the conference itself may discuss Secretary Stimson's plan for a European naval holiday, which aims at the solution of the question of Germany's warship building and the Franco-Italian naval question, and which is in brief that France, Germany and Italy should agree to suspend all naval building for after next year's disarmament conference."

U. S. Suggests Maintaining Of Present German Credit

This strain took two very definite forms, both of which resulted in a drain of banking resources and the depletion of German gold and foreign exchange holdings.

"In the first place there was a flight from the mark within Germany. In the second place there was a withdrawal of foreign deposits and a curtailment on the part of foreign banks of outstanding lines of credit.

"Fundamentally there is nothing to justify these movements and if, through co-operative action, they can be arrested, there is no reason why the present emergency cannot be immediately and definitely surmounted."

"(1.) As to the first, namely, the internal flight from the mark, this can be and is being successfully combated by the vigorous action of the German Government and the Reichsbank. Once unreasonable fear has been eliminated, it is certain that the patriotism of the German people can be relied on to prevent the destruction of the credit of their own country."

"(2.) As to the external credits, we believe that the first approach to this problem is the development of a program that will permit the maintenance for an adequate period of time of the present outstanding lines of credit. In this connection, it is our understanding that this volume of credit, together with the freed reparations and the natural gain from the allayment of the panic, should be adequate to meet the needs of German economic life for the immediate moment."

"On the other hand, it must be apparent that, unless provision is made for the maintenance of these credits, an attempt to provide new ones, whether of a short or long term character, would be ineffective."

"In the development of such a program, the Governments of the countries having principal banking centers, including the United States, Belgium, France, Great Britain, Holland, Italy, Japan and Switzerland, and other important banking centers, might well undertake to encourage their bankers so to organize as to permit the maintenance for an adequate period of time of present outstanding lines of credit to Germany."

Details for the Bankers.

"The responsibility for working out the details of such a program and the methods of making it effective with due regard to the protection of the banks and the needs of German economy should be left to the banking communities of the respective countries and the central banks could, we believe, be relied on to furnish the necessary leadership, co-operation and direction.

"Such voluntary arrangements should be supplemented, for the time being, by strict control of all foreign exchange transactions by the Reichsbank, so that the integrity of the program can be maintained and the banks that are participating can be assured that there would be no arbitrary withdrawal either from within or without Germany."

"It is our belief that if such a program could be made promptly effective it would result in an immediate restoration of confidence, and that in a comparatively short time the necessity for restrictions of this character would disappear and normal conditions would once more prevail. There is all the more ground for faith in such a result in view of the fact that the United States debt suspension program has now become effective, and that the events which succeeded the announcement of that program clearly demonstrate that relief from payment of intergovernmental debts established in the minds of the business world the basis for renewed confidence."

"A committee should be selected by the Bank for International Settlements or created by some other appropriate method to secure co-operation on the following questions:

"(A.) In consultation with the banking interests in the different countries to provide for the renewal of the present volume of outstanding short-term credits from those countries."

"(B.) In making an inquiry into the immediate further credit needs of Germany."

"(C.) In the development during the course of the next six or eight months of plans for conversion of some proportion of the short-term credits into long-term credits."

Castle, in outlining the President's proposal, said Mr. Hoover was aware that the German economic situation was complicated by political considerations, but that the United States would continue its historic policy of friendliness to all nations.

This Government, he said, cannot thrust itself into political questions.

Acting Secretary Mills of the Treasury talked with Secretary Stimson over the trans-Atlantic telephone after the London conference and said the Secretary reported a "satisfactory" meeting.

WOMAN SHOTS 3 AND IS SLAIN IN KANSAS CITY RAID

Wounds Two U. S. Dry Agents and Detective—Felled in Struggle for Another Officer's Gun.

By the Associated Press.

KANSAS CITY, Mo., July 21.—A woman, 33-year-old gunman, was slain in a raid on an alleged bootleggers' hangout here last night after she shot and wounded two federal prohibition agents and a detective.

Curtis Burns, 35, an agent, was shot by two bullets which paraded him from the waist down. He is reported in a serious condition at a hospital. A fellow officer, C. Anderson, and Clarence G. Nelson, a detective, were wounded seriously.

Lieut. E. C. Nelson, also a detective, shot Callo to death in a fight for possession of the officer's .38-caliber revolver.

The raiding party was composed of 10 agents and six police officers. Burns, with two other agents, found Callo lying on a cot in a dimly lighted room on the second floor of a place called the Callo. Callo was dressed in a suit and a pair of one pistol, but as one of the officers turned to lay it aside, she drew another and fired twice, both bullets striking Burns in the abdomen.

Callo dashed down the stairs and ran out of the door. She was not seen by the officers. She was turned over to the police. She was turned over to the police. She was turned over to the police.

Joseph Lusco, who raiders said was the ringleader of eight men arrested, suffered an injury to his head in the melee. M. P. Wilson, Negro youth, who was watching the raid, was struck by a stray bullet.

The officers reported seizing 14 gallons of liquor and firearms and ammunition. They thought other liquor was spilled or destroyed when a fire broke out shortly after the raid.

It developed today that Callo, also known as Johnny Leone, had been a bartender for Jack Dalton, former deputy sheriff recently slain, at a Twelfth street saloon, and the police had quarreled when the place was closed two months ago.

DAUGHTER QUESTIONS LEGALITY OF WILL OF MRS. JENNIE ELLIS
5000 to Each of Five Grandchildren If They Marry Into Jewish Faith.

A suit to contest the will of Mrs. Jennie Ellis, who died Nov. 10, leaving an estate estimated at $45,000, was filed in Circuit Court yesterday by Mrs. Lillian Fadem, a daughter. The petition questions the legality of a provision giving $500 to each of five grandchildren the year after their marriage, provided they marry in the Jewish faith.

It is further alleged that another clause which created a trust for the benefit of the children was faulty in that it did not properly provide for eventual distribution.

Another suit to set aside the will, in which Mrs. Fadem is a party, is also pending in the Circuit Court. It is alleged that Nathan Ellis, a son, who was named executor and trustee, exercised undue influence over his mother. The principal part of the estate was left in his control and he was directed to pay the income to the beneficiaries under the will.

FIRE CHIEF'S AID VISITING COURT IS MADE RECEIVER

A. J. Tofte, Chance Spectator, Put in Charge of W. A. Zelnicker Supply Co. by Judge Hogan.

Alfred J. Tofte, an Assistant Fire Chief, who was sitting in Circuit Judge Hogan's courtroom yesterday as a spectator was called forward by Judge Hogan and appointed receiver in an action pending in court at the time. Tofte and Judge Hogan have been acquainted for many years.

The company involved is the Walter A. Zelnicker Supply Co., dealing in railroad equipment which had applied through its president, Walter A. Zelnicker, for the appointment of a receiver. Its petition states that the company is a going concern, with assets of $200,000 and liabilities of $102,935, but that it needs a receiver to preserve its property against threatened suits by creditors. The company has offices at 511 Locust street and a plant in East St. Louis.

When David Baron, an attorney, who presented the petition, failed to name anyone preferred as receiver, Judge Hogan looked about the courtroom and seeing Tofte called him forward and made the appointment, which was agreed to by Baron.

Tofte, who lives at 3851A St. Louis avenue, and is stationed with a fire company at Warner and Kosciusko avenues, served as receiver in another case, according to Baron, whose law firm was appointed counsel for the receiver. Tofte finished a bond of $15,000.

The Zelnicker company was incorporated 29 years ago with an authorized capital of $200,000. General business conditions were given as the cause of its present difficulty.

$275,000 VERDICT BASED ON EXTORTION

Mississippi Valley Trust Co.
One of Six Defendants in Suit.

By the Associated Press.
CHICAGO, July 21.—Twenty Brothers, a construction company with offices in principal Pacific Coast cities, was awarded a judgment of $275,000 by a jury in Federal Judge James H. Wilkerson's court yesterday against six mid-west banking and investment houses.
The construction company alleged extortion in connection with an Arizona road bond issue. The defendants are Mississippi Valley Trust Co. of St. Louis; the Detroit Trust Co.; R. M. Grant & Co., and C. W. McNear & Co. of Chicago; Bolger, Morser & Willaman Co. and A. C. Allen & Co.
The construction firm, 16 years ago, contracted to build roads in Maricopa County, Arizona. The defendants purchased the bond issue. In their bill, Twenty Brothers charged that in 1921, after a drop in the bond market, the defendants threatened the construction firm with bankruptcy unless it made good their loss. Twenty Brothers, the bill said, paid the defendants $185,000.
The firm filed suit several months ago in Chicago against the six companies, alleging extortion and asking for damages of $275,000, the principal paid and accrued interest.
The defense attorneys asked for a new trial and Judge Wilkerson will hear the petition July 30.

VOTING OF $1000 FOR FUNERAL OF LEGISLATOR HELD INVALID

Attorney-General's Office Disapproved Appropriation for Widow of Lee T. Witte.
JEFFERSON CITY, July 21.—An appropriation of $1000 from the contingent fund of the House of Representatives of the 1921 Legislature, to pay the funeral expenses of State Representative Lee T. Witte of Scotland County, who died here last May during the legislative session, was declared invalid in an opinion issued yesterday by the Attorney-General's Department to State Auditor L. D. Thompson.
Assistant Attorney-General Walter E. Sloat, who wrote the opinion, held the appropriation was contrary to constitutional provisions prohibiting the appropriation of public money as a grant or gift to any individual, and could not legally be paid. Thompson had asked for a ruling before approving a warrant for the amount.
The appropriation was made through passage of a resolution by the House, after members had reported that Witte was not in good financial circumstances at the time of his death. The resolution provided the $1000 was to be paid in a lump sum to Witte's widow. Witte's home was in Memphis, Mo.

PUSHES HOLDUP MAN ASIDE, SAVES $1200

Collector First Tried to Give Youth With Pistol Advice; Suspect Captured.

Samuel Wiedershine, 2127 Alfred avenue, a collector for the Metropolitan Life Insurance Co., saved $1200 in collections today when he refused to be held up.

Arriving at the company's office at 1410 South Jefferson avenue in his automobile, he was preparing to get out when a youth pointed a pistol at him, ordering him to stay in the machine and to drive where he was told.

Wiedershine tried giving the robber advice. "Don't make the mistake of becoming a holdup man. It will get you into trouble," he counseled.

The youth laughed and repeated his instructions punctuated by abusive language. Wiedershine pushed the robber aside and ran into the office.

A description was given police and a few minutes later a youth was arrested at Geyer and Mississippi avenue by policemen in a radio-equipped automobile. He was identified by Wiedershine but made no statement.

Bernard L. Caw, proprietor of a jewelry store at 1902 North Taylor avenue, was bound and gagged by two Negroes who held him up yesterday afternoon, taking $4 and jewelry valued at $400. Caw, locked in a rear room, freed himself later. He told police the rings and watches taken were not insured.

Wrapping $252 in cash and a package of checks in a newspaper, Miss Adeline Hartman, 1520 Cleveland avenue, East St. Louis, an employee of the A. S. Aloe Co., a surgical supply concern, 1819 Olive street, started to a downtown bank to deposit the money. In front of 1815 Olive street a man pushed her roughly and his companion seized the package. The robbers fled in an automobile parked at the curb. The machine had been reported stolen from H. R. Johnson, Bell, Mo., at Spring avenue and Delmar boulevard, July 4.

An inventory given police yesterday by Mrs. Gertrude Levy, proprietor of the Hollywood Dress Shop, 2642 Cherokee street, valued at $1000, 119 dresses and six coats taken by burglars Saturday night.

TOPEKA, Kan., July 21.—The Public Service Commission was informed yesterday that the Kansas Utilities Co., which serves electrically 27 cities in seven southeastern Kansas counties, would reduce rates, effective Sept. 1. 'MACHINE-GUN' JACK GETS TWO-YEAR TERM McGurn, Suspect in St. Valentine's Day Murders, Sentenced Under Mann Act.

By the Associated Press.
CHICAGO, July 21.—"Machine gun Jack" McGurn of the "Scarface" Al Capone gang was sentenced to two years in Leavenworth prison today by Federal Judge Walter Lindley on a Mann act charge. His wife, the former Louise Rolfe, who was his "alibi" when he was sought for the St. Valentine's day machine gun murders in 1929, was sentenced to jail for four months on the same charge.

McGurn, whose real name is Vincent Gebardi, was convicted on three counts and got two-year terms on each, but was ordered placed on probation for four years after he has served his first two-year sentence.
McGurn and Louise Rolfe were living together in a downtown hotel when detectives found them a fortnight after the St. Valentine's day murders. McGurn was indicted but never prosecuted. Then the Federal Government, in a general campaign to break up organized crime, followed him about the country with the woman, assembled witnesses who told of his trips to Florida and other resorts, and presented the Mann Act evidence to Judge Lindley.

Last May McGurn's wife, using the name of Mrs. Jack Demory, obtained a divorce at Wheaton and a few days later McGurn and the woman, using their true names of Gebardi and Louise Boex, were married at Waukegan.
During his probation after release from Leavenworth, McGurn must "get himself an honest job and go to work, and conduct himself as a good citizen" or return to the penitentiary, Judge Lindley ruled.

SLAYER OF ILLINOIS DEPUTY HELD FOR GRAND JURY

Men Arrested at Waukegan Said to Have Admitted Many Robberies.

By the Associated Press.
WATSEKA, Ill., July 21.—Joe Jazorak, confessed slayer of Deputy Sheriff Henry Ennen after the robbery of the Buick car in Waukegan, Friday, was held to the grand jury without bond today for murder.
He professed ignorance of the legal proceedings when arraigned before Police Magistrate F. H. Kamp, and uttered no plea. His two alleged companions in the robbery and flight were to be arraigned later in the day.
Sheriff Bernard Phelps was the only witness presented by State's Attorney A. Fred Kendall. He testified that his deputy, Ennen, was shot to death by Jazorak and that Jazorak had admitted killing the officer during the chase. The accused murderer was lodged in the county jail to await the next grand jury term, probably in November.
Jazorak and his fellow prisoners, Pierce F. Langan and Edward Felder, alias Byrnes, have signed confessions of the robbery as well as a series of post office robberies in Illinois, New York, Florida, South Carolina, Georgia and Maryland.

BERLIN PRESS PLEAS WITH LONDON PARLEY

Hopeful of Arrangement on Purely Economic Lines to Relieve Nation's Difficulties.

By the Associated Press.
BERLIN, July 21.—The few papers that comment editorially this morning on the progress of the London conference reflect the generally more or less optimistic impression of the news dispatches.
The democratic Morgenpost, under the caption "Easier Situation," says: "So far one may be satisfied, as the principal requisite, good-will,
was manifested on all sides, thus paving the way for friendly cooperation."

Chancellor Brüning's organ, Germania, exhorts the German negotiators that there is "one danger they must sedulously avoid."
"Plans for Germany's salvation," the paper says, "must be discussed and decided upon nothing but a strictly economic basis." The paper asserts it fears that "the Americans, who habitually link up reparations with disarmament, may inject the latter problem into the discussions."

The Industrial Deutsche Allgemeine Zeitung, in this connection, beseeches both the British and French representatives not to resort to "methods of extortion as at Versailles, which would only delay
the return of mutual confidence."

The Boersen Courier and the Vossische Zeitung—the latter in an article by former Finance Minister Dr. Peter Reinhold—stress the point that the fate of Germany, if she is left helpless, will sooner or later be the fate of the whole capitalistic world and that today it is less a question of localizing Germany's misfortunes than of saving all nations from catastrophe.

Newspapers are scarce because under last week's emergency decree dozens of publications have been suspended because they made editorial comment designated by the Government as "endangering public safety."

The decree has evoked widespread protests, even in newspapers which support the Government, observing that it, as well as the other recent decrees are bearable only if they may be considered strictly temporary. Publications which vigorously attacked the Government are still appearing, however, and some of the suppressed papers have merely submerged their identity under the headlines of more obscure, but like-minded publications which then are delivered to the combined subscription lists.
In a telegram to Chancellor
Brüning in London, Adolf Hitler, Alfred Hugenberg and other leaders of the Nationalist opposition served warning that they would not consider themselves bound by any new political guarantees conceded to France in connection with financial assistance for Germany.
"The plan proposed by President Hoover and originally intended as a measure of relief for Germany," the telegram said, "finds itself opposed by the undisguised intention of France to force the German people permanently under her dictation. Thus out of relief is to be made worse distress. Responsible quarters in France cannot be unaware that the despair among our people, particularly among our young people, has grown to such an extent that all kinds of most dangerous trains of thought have been set in motion.
The German nation, which feels itself free of war guilt, cannot and will not longer carry the unjust burden forced upon it, and any further reduction of the German state sovereignty is decidedly unbearable and inadmissible. The whole national opposition therefore formally serves notice that in accordance with its basic convictions it will not regard as legally binding any further conditions entered into with France."

PENNSYLVANIA RAILROAD

free wheelingly speaking by don heold

Oh, the best things in life are free

I'd pay several cents a mile extra for that Free Wheeling sensation in my Studebaker—if I had.

But the joke is, it doesn't cost me money—it saves me money.

A Studebaker is a swell when running along with the motor engaged, but it is those moments of momentum—those miles of Free Wheeling—which give me my grandest thrills... and these don't cost—they PAY.

I sail along, manufacturing miles and money!

About one mile in seven or six or five is free—because you save from a seventh to a fifth of your gas and oil.

Seems to me ridick to buy a car without Free Wheeling—when you can get a real Free Wheeling Studebaker for $845!

This is the lowest priced Six with Free Wheeling as standard equipment engineered from tip to tail to give you the fullest benefits of Free Wheeling in its finest form.

NIGHT AIR MAIL ROUTE TO NEW YORK OPENED

Ceremonies Mark Starting of Service That Makes St. Louis National Center.

Ceremonies at St. Louis, Newark, Los Angeles, Memphis and Chicago yesterday marked the inauguration of two new services which make St. Louis, world pioneer of air mail, but long neglected in its modern development, a national center of all mail.

A double celebration was held by the Chamber of Commerce and Board at Lambert-St. Louis airport, at the departure of the first night mail and express plane to New York and of the first plane to fly the new Memphis-St. Louis route, which completes through service between New Orleans and Chicago. Rain somewhat curtailed the celebration prior to departure of the plane inaugurating night flying to New York, which picked up 350 pounds of New York mail here and carried gardenias from Mayor Porter of Los Angeles to Mayor Walker of New York.

Col. and Mrs. Charles A. Lindbergh drove to Newark airport to see the inauguration of night flying westbound over the Midcontinent route through St. Louis. The first westbound plane was christened "Miss Kansas City," by Mrs. Eddie V. Rickenbacker, wife of the World War ace. It stopped at Lambert-St. Louis Field early today and took off for Kansas City to connect with the day plane to Los Angeles.

Overnight service to New York, sought for years by St. Louis banks and business, provides arrival in New York at 4:15 a. m. of St. Louis mail which reaches the main postoffice by 7:50 p. m. It permits 22-hour mail and express schedules between New York and Los Angeles, which will be supplemented Aug. 1 by air freight service operated over the same route by Transcontinental and Western Air. Closing time for Memphis mail is 9:40 a. m. at the main postoffice.

One St. Louis concern, Monsanto Chemical Works, announced that it would handle all transactions with the East by air mail, not only to support the service, but from the common sense standpoint to take advantage of a new instrument of business which "places St. Louis 500 miles nearer New York."

U. S. COMMISSIONER TO RULE ON BAIL FOR JAKE THE BARBER

After Clash of Lawyers, Official at Chicago Decides to Give Opinion Friday.

CHICAGO, July 21.—The question of whether John (Jake the Barber) Factor, alleged operator of a $5,000,000 stock fraud in England, can be admitted to bail will be decided Friday by United States Commissioner Edwin K. Walker, thus bringing to a close the first phase of a legal fight between Factor's attorneys and those for the British Crown.

Factor's counsel yesterday asked Walker's permission to seek an opinion from the U. S. District Court on the bail question. The British request was called "an outright insult to the Commissioner's court," and contrary to "any legal procedure." The British Consul said he wanted the District Court to establish a precedent for bail on extradition matters of this kind.

Factor has been in technical custody of Federal Deputy Marshals since he was arrested several weeks ago. The present case concerns only whether he should be admitted to bail and relieved of surveillance. Arguments on the evidence for extradition will follow this case. Factor's attorneys say the charges against their client in England is not a felony in Illinois, and so, is not subject to extradition treaties.

SPECIAL PROSECUTOR NAMED TO ACT AGAINST LUKE LEA

Judge Takes This Course When Attorney-General Fails to Comply With Order.

NASHVILLE, Tenn., July 21.—Seth Walker, Nashville attorney, was appointed by Judge Charles Gilbert today as Attorney-General pro tem to file a conspiracy indictment against Col. Luke Lea, Tennessee publisher and his son, Luke Lea Jr., in connection with the failure of the Liberty Bank and Trust Co., here last fall.

The Court's action followed what Judge Gilbert said was Attorney-General Richard M. Atkinson's refusal to comply with an order directing him to take that course.

50 YEARS IN JESUIT ORDER

The Rev. Bernard J. Otting, professor of Dogmatic Theology in the Divinity School of St. Louis University, will complete tomorrow his fiftieth year as a member of the Jesuit order.

He will be celebrant of a mass of thanksgiving at 6:30 a. m. at St. Francis Xavier's Church with all members of the Jesuit community who are not on vacation in attendance. Father Otting was president of St. Louis University from 1913 to 1920.

Hanged Man Revived, but Dies.

Frank Pearson, 63 years old, a watchman, who regained consciousness last Friday when the police inductor was used after he had hanged himself from a rafter at his home, 2102 Cass avenue, died yesterday at City Hospital. His wife told police he had said he considered himself a failure.

SIX INSURANCE COMPANIES NAMED IN $250,000 SUIT

Former Agent Says They Sent Out Circulars Accusing Him of "Twisting."

A suit for $108,000 actual and $150,000 punitive damages was filed in Circuit Court at Clayton yesterday against six insurance companies and agents for four of them by Ray F. Prewitt, 1354 Cornell avenue, formerly an agent for the Lincoln National Life Insurance Co.

Prewitt alleges the defendants, in August, 1929, sent out circulars falsely accusing him of "twisting," or persuading insurance policy holders by misrepresentation, to change to his company. The defendants are the Connecticut Mutual Life Insurance Co., the Northwestern Mutual of Milwaukee, the New York Life Insurance Co., The Aetna, the Missouri State Life, the Continental, Stratford Lee Morton, Flavel L. Wright, Hamilton Crook and Welborn Estes.

FATAL FALL IN SHAFT OF GARAGE ESCALATOR

James Nelson Plunges Six Stories After Completing Inspection.

James Nelson, 28 years old, 3552A Ashland avenue, an employee of the Sev-Mor Garage, Seventh and Morgan streets, was fatally injured late yesterday afternoon when he fell through an escalator shaft from the sixth floor. He died early today at City Hospital. The escalator, used by attendants, is inspected regularly each day. Nelson had stopped the machinery, made the inspection and returned to the sixth floor to put it in operation again. It is thought he lost his footing.

Engravers Oppose Small Bills. PHILADELPHIA, July 21.—

The diminishing size of paper money was blamed yesterday for unemployment among engravers. Delegates to the annual convention of the International Union of Steel and Copper Plate Printers, Die Stampers and Engravers asserted they opposed the smaller banknotes, but failed to halt them. Paul Dawson, New York, expressed the belief that travelers' checks and other engraved promises would be made smaller soon and that further unemployment would result. He decried diminishing stock issues.

the faculty of San Quentin prison. They have charge of the education of their 3000 fellow convicts. The certificates expire with their sentences.

It's no accident that Chesterfield wins and holds its smokers.

Riper, milder, sweeter-tasting tobaccos and purer cigarette paper can't be bought.

And Chesterfield cigarettes are made right. Each type of tobacco used in the Chesterfield blend must pass rigid laboratory tests for mildness, flavor and aroma. No purer cigarette can be made!

Try them. You'll find every Chesterfield like every other. In taste, evenness of burning, smoothness and coolness.

Milder? Plenty milder! And that goes for the "nightcap" Chesterfield as well as the morning "eye-opener"!

FOR ODD JOBS MAN, CALL ON COMMITTEE

Acting Relief Director Says
Thousands of Skilled Workers Are Registered.

An appeal to householders to call upon the Citizens' Committee on Relief and Employment when there are odd jobs to be done about the home was made by Walter Erb, acting director of the committee's employment bureau, speaking yesterday over Radio Station WLL.

Thousands of skilled workmen are registered with the bureau, Erb said, and care is taken to select the right man for the type of work needed. "These men are pitifully anxious," he said, "to find even a couple of hours' work fixing your radio, washing your windows, putting up awnings, washing walls, cutting weeds or tidying up your basement. They have families to take care of and every penny earned means milk for their children or help in keeping a roof over their heads."

The employment bureau, at 2025 Washington avenue, may be reached by telephone at Central 0491.

RECORD CLASS OF 250 TAKES TESTS FOR BEAUTY LICENSES

Examinations began at Y. W. C. A.; Six Men and 15 Negro Girls in Group.

Examinations for State licenses for cosmeticians, hairdressers and manicures began yesterday at the Young Women's Christian Association under auspices of the State Board of Health, with 250 persons taking the test. It is the largest class since the law requiring examinations was enacted two years ago.

The examination yesterday comprised a written test while practical demonstrations are being observed by the examiners today and tomorrow. These are held at the National School of Cosmeticians, 4479 Washington boulevard. The class includes six men and 15 young Negro women.

George Bartholomaeus, director of the division of cosmetology and hairdressing of the State Board of Health, is conducting the examination. Dr. James Stewart, State Health Commissioner, visited the class yesterday. An examination will be given in Kansas City next week. Those taking the tests here are from the eastern section of Missouri.

CUBS READY TO PAY $50,000 FOR "GREAT" SHIRES

SPORTS SALAD

Griffiths making his first start, once his defective vision forced him to go off. Four months ago, gave Paul Williams, a former Chicago prep school star, a terrific beating in a 10-round feature bout. It was Malloy's first promotional venture in Chicago in more than a year, and around 13,000 spectators packed the White City Stadium to witness the contest. Griffiths was every round from Panantaleo and four times dropped the game youngster to the canvas. Confident, experienced and such too fast for Panantaleo, fought back to his feet and landed smashing rights and lefts at will throughout the contest.

Plot Against Mrs. Hoover's Uncle
By the Associated Press.
WARRETON, N. D., July 21.—A man who attempted to extort $75 from W. D. Henry, retired local banker and uncle of Mrs. Herbert Hoover, was sought today. Henry received a letter demanding that he drive into the country and throw the money from his car at a signal. While officers watched he drove but due to uncertainty regarding the signal, a trailing car was unable to follow closely enough to apprehend the man.

Chemist in Urging Inspection of Manholes Tells of Accident on Route President Took.
By the Associated Press.
WASHINGTON, July 21.—Tests by public utilities in all cities to reduce the hazards of explosive gas in street manholes were advocated today by Dr. Harrison E. Howe of the American Chemical Society.

Dr. Howe cited a recent explosion in this city as a "reminder of the serious danger existing in many cities due to accumulations of gas in manholes." The President of the United States and a group of distinguished guests were at a dinner when an explosion occurred near the hotel on a street through which the President shortly thereafter drove back to the White House. This particular explosion could easily have been disastrous. Fortunately, no one was injured. It does, however, indicate the pressing need for adequate protective measures.

Bureau of Valuation Fixes Cost of Reproduction as of Dec. 31, 1930, at $27,189,657,479.

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, July 21.—The Interstate Commerce Commission today adjourned its hearings on the petition of the railroads for a 15 per cent increase in freight rates.

Declining to proceed immediately with cross-examination of witnesses favoring the increase and presentation of opposition testimony, the commission announced further hearings would be deferred until Aug. 21, or possibly sooner.

The railroads had asked that the hearings continue without break, but attorneys of the opposition said they had not had sufficient time to prepare their case.

Commissioner Meyer, presiding, said he and his colleagues would take under advisement a motion to resume hearings before Aug. 31, and would announce their decision as soon as possible.

Cost of Reproduction.

Before the day's hearings opened the Bureau of Valuation of the commission made public an exhibit fixing the cost of reproducing the railroads as of Dec. 31, 1930, at $27,189,657,479.

The value of various districts less depreciation was set at: Eastern district, $9,140,515,166; Southern district, $5,663,154,913; Western district, $5,777,351,151.

Class one railroads' cost of reproduction at spot prices was figured at $26,083,317,322; Class two, $482,500,068; Class three, $119,262,339, and switching and terminal companies, $54,370,700.

The value of the various classes less depreciation at Dec. 31, 1930, was fixed at: Class one railroads, $26,083,317,322; Class two, $290,168,545; Class three, $34,023,895; and switching and terminal companies, $45,139,449.

The valuation made public today varied slightly from the commission's tentative value adjusted to Dec. 21 by accountants of the commission and made public 10 days ago. The tentative value was set then at $21,621,000,000, whereas the valuation made public today was $21,581,016,255.

The newest study was based on figures of cost of various projects constructed by the railroads during 1930 and cost of materials and labor as reported by various carriers.

C. E. Widell, of the Tennessee Products Corporation at Nashville, took the witness stand, again the first representative of shipping concerns to support the increase.

He repeated today that he was not advocating a flat 15 per cent increase, but felt that the plea of the railroads should be given sympathetic consideration.

Cross questioning developed that approximately one-half of the cost produced by Widell's concern is paid to the Louisville & Nashville Railroad and the Central of Georgia.

Widell was followed by C. E. Hochstetler, traffic director of the Chicago Association of Commerce, who said the association was supporting the plea for increased rates.

"With certain reservations,"

The commission refused to accept a resolution adopted by the Chicago Association of Commerce and presented by Hochstetler. In addition to supporting the request of the railroads for higher freight rates it urged that "serious consideration should be given to a proper revision of railway wages."

Hochstetler said he had heard railway executives express the opinion that the 15 per cent increase would result in an 8 per cent increase in railroad revenue. In answer to questions, he said he did not recall what railroad men had expressed that opinion.

Hochstetler said it was possible the rate increase might cause some diversion of traffic to water but that in the case of most railroads in the Middle Western Territory, including the Illinois Central, their lines were paralleled only in part by water routes.

Hochstetler said three railroad executives, including L. A. Downs, president of the Illinois Central Railroad, were members of the Association of Commerce, but that they did not vote on the resolution in favor of the increase.

People's Lobby Statement.

Benjamin C. Marsh, executive secretary of the people's lobby, with headquarters in Washington, was permitted to make a statement and protest of railroad attorneys.

France Says It Has Reduced Army
To Lowest Possible Point; Forces
Decreased 60 Pct. in Ten YearsParis Sets Forth Attitude in View of 1932
Parley—Soldiers to Enforce League's Decisions Advocated.

By the Associated Press.
PARIS, July 21.—A united armed force provided by all members of the League of Nations which could "intervene in conflict to support the league council's decisions or recommendations" was proposed today by France in a memorandum setting forth its attitude on disarmament.

France already has reduced its own armaments to a point which it considers to be the lowest consistent with its national security "in the present state of Europe and the world," the memorandum says.

The present Government is ready to participate in organization of a scheme for "mutual assistance" for all countries in case of aggression and is certain that the 1932 disarmament conference at Geneva will not overlook the opportunity of organizing it.

The memorandum takes the view disarmament is more a political issue than a technical one, and asserts any changes in the Versailles treaty which would permit Germany or Austria to increase land, air or naval forces would make it necessary for France to discontinue its policy of armament reduction.

Practical Locarno Treaty.
The greatest boon to disarmament since the war, the document says, was the Locarno agreement, a kind of treaty which France believes should become more numerous.

The memorandum develops the classic French thesis of guarantees and expresses objection to the view that all nations should possess the same armed strength, justifying that objection by reference to that section of the League of Nations covenant which mentions "special conditions and geographical circumstances."

In a 28-page document the Government said that since the League of Nations covenant went into force France of its own accord had proceeded to reduce its armaments, but always in view of its peculiar geographical situation, and bearing in mind that it has been invaded three times in the last century.

Interdependence of land, sea and air forces is extremely important to France, the memorandum asserts, yet land forces were reduced by cutting the period of compulsory military service to one year. The land forces of the army now number 270,000 men for home defense.

In 1921 the land forces totaled 796,000 men and this year the authorized total is 576,000 for the entire homeland and the colonies. This total has not been attained, however, and the number of regularly trained soldiers ready for combat duty in France is only 229,000.

Troops for Overseas.
This mobile force stationed in France proper includes a reserve for overseas troops needed in Syria, Morocco and elsewhere, and therefore for the total number of trained soldiers ready for combat in Europe amounts to only about 162,000.

This, the memorandum says, represents a reduction of 60 per cent in the last 10 years.

Conditions for success for the disarmament conference in 1932 are outlined as follows:

First, establishment of confidence, which implies respect of treaties; second, organization of a peace of which reduction of armaments is only one aspect, and which demands obligatory arbitration backed by mutual assistance in case of aggression.

Depending on the nature and time element of such "mutual assistance" each state may calculate the extent to which it may reduce its armaments.

The naval position which France defended at London is restated and a hope is expressed that France and Italy, with Great Britain, may reach a naval agreement for guidance during the next few years.

French naval strength was low after the World War, say the memorandum, and an attempt to rebuild it was made in the program laid down in 1924 intended for execution in 1934. The total naval tonnage is given at 628,603.

The air forces as reconstructed after the war also have become inadequate, the Government says, and some branches can be made subject to no limitation whatsoever.

Woman Renounces $25,000 Award.
LONDON, July 21.—Miss Millie Orpen, who won a $25,000 award last week in a suit against a movie theater which remained open on Sunday in violation of a blue law more than a century old, renounced the award today, saying she never had intended to collect it, but sued only as a test case.

Hugo himself is buried in the Pantheon. Every year, on Sept. 4, there is a pilgrimage to the grave of Leopoldine Hugo, one of the daughters, whose death by drowning inspired him to compose the tragic "Contemplation." She was drowned on her honeymoon and her husband died attempting to save her.

Corporations and Individ-

Charges at Baltimore.

By the Associated Press.
BALTIMORE, July 21.—What is said to have been the costliest prohibition investigation ever undertaken has resulted in three Federal indictments here charging 53 corporations and individuals with conspiracy to violate the prohibition laws.

Return of the indictments, naming persons in New York, New Jersey, Delaware, Maryland, Michigan and Ohio, brought to an end the investigation started in August, 1929, following the seizure here of three huge stills, used for cracking and redistilling commercial alcohol for beverage purposes.

More than 130 witnesses, including Prohibition Director Amos W. Woodcock, Dr. James H. Doran, former director, and officials of the Attorney-General's office appeared before the grand jury during the investigation, which was reported to have cost the Government $500,000.

Included in those indicted is the U. S. Industrial Alcohol Co., and its subsidiary, the U. S. Industrial Chemical Co. of West Virginia, and Maryland, said to be the largest industrial alcohol company in the country.

Because of the delay in return of the bills was reported by officials to have been due to reluctance to indict large companies dealing in legal industrial alcohol. More than 200 persons and corporations were gone over by the jury in its deliberations.

SHANGHAI, July 21.—Dr. Francis F. Tucker, treasurer of the William S. Porter Memorial Hospital at Tchow, Shantung, operated by the American Board of Missions, was held at Tsinanfu today on a charge of killing a Chinese.

Chinese authorities, who took Tucker to Tsinanfu from Tchow, refused to hand him over to the United States Consul. The arrest resulted from the fatal shooting last week by Tucker of Chinese hospital employee. Tucker said he fired at the man in the belief he was a burglar.

VILNA, Poland, July 21.—An engineer, Anthony Stanislawski, was arrested today as a co-plott in the Demkowsky espionage affair. Police said they found in his hotel room a camera of Soviet make and numerous photographs of Polish military operations.

Maj. Peter Demkowsky, Polish officer, was executed by a firing squad last Saturday as a spy in the service of Soviet Russia. The arrest of Stanislawski followed a tip from London, where he and Demkowsky were alleged to have been sent by a Soviet military attaché in Warsaw on a mission previous to Demkowsky's arrest.

LONDON, July 21.—The names of two Englishmen and 28 Indians selected to do major work at Conference.

LONDON, July 21.—The names of two Englishmen and 28 Indians who will do the major work of framing the Indian constitution were announced last night. They were nominated by Prime Minister MacDonald from the Indian Round-Table Conference Federal Structure Committee, which is to meet in London not later than Sept. 5.

The two Englishmen named were F. W. Pethick-Lawrence, M. P., and Viscount Haldane, Conservative leader of the House of Lords. This raises the British representation on the committee from six to eight, and, with the 28 Indians makes the total strength of the committee 36.

Among the Indians appointed was Mahatma Gandhi, who was listed the "M. K. Gandhi." His name appeared in eleventh place on the list.

Although no effort was made to collect the representations geographically, there was an effort to cover every section of Indian feeling, including women labor, the National Congress and various minorities.

By the Associated Press.
SIMLA, India, July 21.—Any doubt as to whether Mahatma Gandhi would attend the round-table conference at London in September apparently had been dispelled today when the Mahatma announced: "I shall make the start to London as soon as the weather makes it possible." He said he would sail probably Aug. 15, or even earlier.

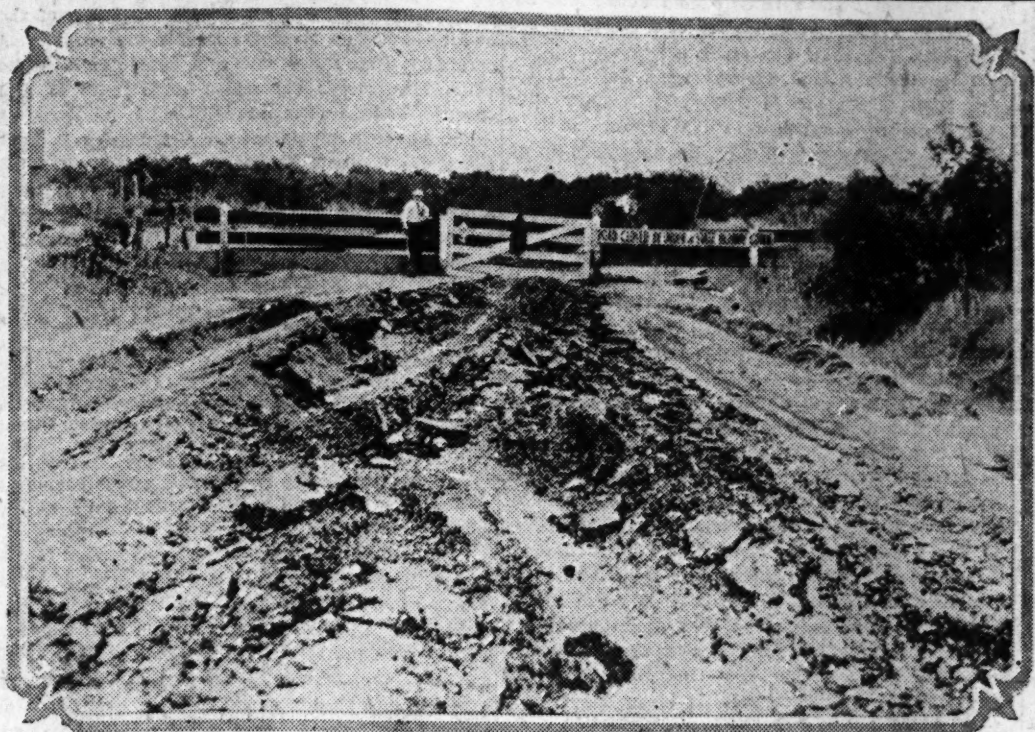

"I have certainly consented to attend the session of the Federal Structures Subcommittee, subject to the weather and political conditions being favorable, and you may depend upon it I will do so," he said.

Highway Plowed Up in Toll Bridge Row

THIS picture shows the condition of the road leading to the toll span on Texas-Oklahoma border after an order from Gov. Wm. H. Murray of Oklahoma to plow up this section was carried out. A tractor and grader made impassable a strip of highway 1300 feet long. Gov. Murray had previously ordered the barrier torn down, but Texas officials rebuilt it and stationed rangers to see that it remained. The plowed section makes it impossible for traffic to reach Texas over the present road and tourists are forced to choose other routes into Texas following a dispute between State authorities about tolls on the bridge.

U. S. MISSIONARY HELD
FOR KILLING IN CHINAAuthorities Refuse to Hand

American Consul.

By the Associated Press.
SHANGHAI, July 21.—Dr. Francis F. Tucker, treasurer of the William S. Porter Memorial Hospital at Tchow, Shantung, operated by the American Board of Missions, was held at Tsinanfu today on a charge of killing a Chinese.

Chinese authorities, who took Tucker to Tsinanfu from Tchow, refused to hand him over to the United States Consul. The arrest resulted from the fatal shooting last week by Tucker of Chinese hospital employee. Tucker said he fired at the man in the belief he was a burglar.

VILNA, Poland, July 21.—An engineer, Anthony Stanislawski, was arrested today as a co-plott in the Demkowsky espionage affair. Police said they found in his hotel room a camera of Soviet make and numerous photographs of Polish military operations.

Maj. Peter Demkowsky, Polish officer, was executed by a firing squad last Saturday as a spy in the service of Soviet Russia. The arrest of Stanislawski followed a tip from London, where he and Demkowsky were alleged to have been sent by a Soviet military attaché in Warsaw on a mission previous to Demkowsky's arrest.

LONDON, July 21.—The names of two Englishmen and 28 Indians selected to do major work at Conference.

LONDON, July 21.—The names of two Englishmen and 28 Indians who will do the major work of framing the Indian constitution were announced last night. They were nominated by Prime Minister MacDonald from the Indian Round-Table Conference Federal Structure Committee, which is to meet in London not later than Sept. 5.

The two Englishmen named were F. W. Pethick-Lawrence, M. P., and Viscount Haldane, Conservative leader of the House of Lords. This raises the British representation on the committee from six to eight, and, with the 28 Indians makes the total strength of the committee 36.

Among the Indians appointed was Mahatma Gandhi, who was listed the "M. K. Gandhi." His name appeared in eleventh place on the list.

Although no effort was made to collect the representations geographically, there was an effort to cover every section of Indian feeling, including women labor, the National Congress and various minorities.

SIMLA, India, July 21.—Any doubt as to whether Mahatma Gandhi would attend the round-table conference at London in September apparently had been dispelled today when the Mahatma announced: "I shall make the start to London as soon as the weather makes it possible." He said he would sail probably Aug. 15, or even earlier.

"I have certainly consented to attend the session of the Federal Structures Subcommittee, subject to the weather and political conditions being favorable, and you may depend upon it I will do so," he said.

ROUEN, France, July 21.—Louis Barthou, former French Prime Minister, has accepted the chairmanship of a committee formed to erect a monument to Victor Hugo in the cemetery of Villequier, not far from Rouen, where Hugo's wife and two daughters are buried. Hugo himself is buried in the Pantheon. Every year, on Sept. 4, there is a pilgrimage to the grave of Leopoldine Hugo, one of the daughters, whose death by drowning inspired him to compose the tragic "Contemplation." She was drowned on her honeymoon and her husband died attempting to save her.

TWO SYNDICALISTS
KILLED IN RIOTING
IN SPANISH TOWNS30 Wounded, 200 Arrested
When Police Suppress Attempts to Raid Food Shops Near Seville.

By the Associated Press.
SEVILLE, Spain, July 21.—Fighting between police and men described by authorities as revolutionaries and strikers, broke out in three towns near Seville today, resulting in the killing of two syndicalists and the wounding of more than 30 others.

Syndicalists had attempted to raid food stores, shops and factories. They held up and looted a train carrying foodstuffs between Cádiz and Jerez and destroyed telephone lines to Seville.

The villages affected were Dos Hermanas, Utrera and Carmona. In each case syndicalists attempted to attack shops.

The Governor has dismissed the Mayor of Dos Hermanas on charges of pacifism and syndicalist leanings.

Citizens of Seville offered automobiles and other aid to quell what was called "guerrilla warfare." More than 200 disturbers were arrested, among them Dr. Vallina, syndicalist leader.

Plans were made for the burial of the three persons killed Monday. Definite figures are not available on the number of persons injured, but estimates range around 50.

The few citizens who ventured into the streets of Seville this morning found the city converted into a military encampment. Police continued to jail syndicalists and others suspected of engaging in yesterday's disorders.

Troops and civil guards were mobilized behind sand bags prepared to sweep the streets with machine gun and rifle fire if hostilities were resumed. At the outskirts the police charged various groups of workers were attempting to organize to enter the city.

REPORTED EATEN BY CANNIBALS

Belgian Official Said to Have Been Slain in South Africa.

By the Associated Press.
CAPE TOWN, Union of South Africa, July 21.—Dispatches to the newspaper Dis Burger by way of Johannesburg and Elizabethville say a cannibal tribe near Leopoldville has killed and eaten M. Mallot, the Belgian District Commissioner of Leopoldville.

Mallot, the dispatches say, protested against an assault on the storekeeper at a village near Leopoldville and natives said to be of the Bapendi tribe captured him. Later they attacked the Kikwi administrator, who was saved only by the arrival of police who killed seven natives before driving them off. In subsequent encounters 50 were killed by machine gun fire.

Ambulance-Chasers and the P. S. C.
To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch:
THE St. Louis Public Service Co. is ostensibly making a drive against so-called ambulance-chasers, but in reality the drive is against persons who are injured by the cars and busses of that corporation. By bringing into disrepute those lawyers who specialize in handling damage suits, the company hopes to force injured persons to deal directly with the company's claim agents and accept in settlement whatever they can induce the Company to pay. It is to the effect that the claim agent may be induced to effect cheap settlements, and it is possible that he is hired to do that and his bread and butter depends on his ability to save money for his corporate employer. If a claim agent can induce a person who has a claim worth $1000 to accept $100 in settlement, it is a feather in the cap of the claim agent. On the other hand, the more an ambulance-chaser receives in settlement of one of his client's cases, the more the injured person receives. The interest of the claimant and the interest of the lawyer are bound together, while the interest of the claim agent is antagonistic to that of the injured person.

The Public Service Co. has a good deal to say about lawyers inducing witnesses to commit perjury. Does it seriously mean to argue that a lawyer who represents a public utility company is any more unscrupulous than the men who represent a public utility corporation? The records made by the public utilities in this and other states do not inspire much confidence. The public utility companies make the public believe that all of the crooks are among the lay-ers who fight the corporations. There have been occasions when agents of a street car company have been charged with having done crooked things—such as safe cracking—for example, not to mention bribery. What about the franchise scandals? It is just as easy to be a lawyer as it is to be a crook. If the public utility companies are crooked, the company will naturally win many cases that it would otherwise lose. But it is not fair to honest lawyers and honest witnesses as a result of a propaganda campaign in which all who sue the company. If the company has any proof of the crookedness of its witnesses about, why doesn't it make it public and take action against the crooks? C. G. F.

MAYBE Mr. Kiel, the new Police Board head, will take a look at the thermometer and then at the policemen, muffled up to the neck in heavy coats, and then express the humanitarianism for which he is noted. ARSENE LUPIN.

Wheat and Office-Holding.

With wheat selling at from 25 cents to 30 cents a bushel, where is the profit? Does Senator Capper think farming is like political office-holding, in which a politician can afford to spend more to win an election than the office will pay and yet make a profit?

Mr. Hocker's Services.
To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch:
THE resignation of Lon O. Hocker from the presidency of the Police Board should cause a feeling of great regret among all champions of good citizenship. His administration has been conspicuous for its immaculate conception of his duties, and he has performed them so well that a citizen of this city has unlimited pride in referring to our police force and its superior attainments. Mr. Hocker's department will long be remembered by those who admire worthy officials, as an outstanding record of fidelity.

great credit for this appointment, but he should have continued the good work and not drifted back into making selections from politicians. No individual identified with politics or one who is a perpetual candidate for office should be eligible for membership on the Police Board, because under these conditions he cannot function properly from the standpoint of fairness to all.

In making Henry W. Kiel head of the St. Louis Police Board, the Governor has taken much for granted. He assumes that the former Mayor, a politician, is going to keep the Police Department out of poli-

It has not been customary for some time to place professional politicians at the head of the St. Louis Police Board, and the appointment of Mr. Kiel to a position which laymen usually hold at obvious advantage to society is something of a shock to the community. Mr. Kiel has many excellent qualifications for the position. He has been Mayor of St. Louis three terms, and is thoroughly familiar with the relation of the police to the people. It is a somewhat unique relation, since the police are under control of the State. Mr. Kiel nevertheless has a serious disqualification. He is a former chairman of the Republican City Central Committee, and the Republican City Central Committee is the virtual ruler of St. Louis. It made Mr. Kiel Mayor, and it exercised more or less complete sway over his regime at the City Hall. City government during the three Kiel terms was never better or worse than the Republican City Central Committee.

The fair question is whether or not Mr. Kiel is to be himself as president of the Police Board, or is to let the Republican City Central Committee influence promotions and appointments. What the Republican City Central Committee cares about the people of St. Louis is quite well known. If there was ever any doubt about that, that doubt was dissipated three years ago when the committee supported Sidener for reelection as Circuit Attorney after the Rutherford and Motlow scandals. Only a year ago, the committee confirmed the prior impression of its capacity for public disservice by supporting Harry P. Rosecan for Prosecuting Attorney. It is the leading exponent in St. Louis of yellow dog politics.

Republican politicians have been complaining for several years that they do not have enough to say about police appointments. One of them, William Sacks, made a formal complaint some time ago that the Republican State Central Committee was ignored in this important field. We have not the slightest doubt that Gov. Gaulfisch has entire confidence in Mr. Kiel. The attitude of the Governor has consistently been to keep politics out of the St. Louis Police Department. He has made some political enemies by that attitude, but he has won the gratitude of the people of St. Louis. Political police are the curse of more than one big city in the United States. The non-political Police Department in St. Louis has saved us from ills that have been chronic in Chicago, New York and other cities.

We hope the Governor is right in assuming that Mr. Kiel can be president of the St. Louis Board in non-political sense. The danger is that Mr. Kiel owes his public career to politicians, and it is hard to understand how he is going to turn his back on politicians in a place of such great power as that to which he has been appointed. If he can do it, the city is fortunate. We are going to give them both the benefit of the doubt, but we have our grave apprehensions.

A Polish student of the Danzig Corridor issue, one Smogorzewski, presents an ingenious justification for the existence of that territorial malformation. In a book on the subject, quoted in a pamphlet of the American-Polish Chamber of Commerce and Industry, the writer adopts the tu quoque style of debate by purporting to discover a dozen other corridors on the world map. The United States has one, he says, for a Canadian going from New Brunswick to Ottawa travels 200 miles through our territory, just as a German, bound from Berlin to East Prussia, crosses Polish soil. Canada also has a corridor, because of which an American going from Buffalo to Detroit has to pass through "Ontario. There are others, he says, in various parts of the world: Belgium, Switzerland, Greece and so on.

the Polish Corridor were merely a jog in the boundary line, as are these others, Germany would be content. If East Prussia were bound to the Reich by a territorial link somewhere along its borders, as in all the other instances this writer regards as corridors, all would be well. What makes Danzig a European sore spot is the fact that the boundary alignment completely severs East Prussia from the rest of Germany. The Canadian "corridor" might be a parallel problem were Detroit entirely surrounded by alien territory, and if Canada tore down international bridges, blocked roads and posted soldiers all along the line. Such a dismemberment as the Danzig corridor cannot be explained away by citing the twisting boundaries of other nations.

The telescope being built for the Naval Observatory, powerful enough to show stars 1,500,000,000 light years away, may locate Dr. Irl Hicks' famous planet, Vulcan.

One of the greatest advances in the protracted war on the narcotic evil has just been made in the signing by 23 nations, with more to follow, of the Geneva treaty for limiting the production of habit-forming drugs. Although not perfect, the agreement reached by the world conference under League auspices surpasses previous international and individual efforts. By providing strict supervision and control, under international co-operation, of the production of raw materials and of manufacture, the source of supply for the vast lucrative "dope" trade should be curtailed at the source. The dual character of narcotics, as an invaluable aid to science and medicine and as the source of a degrading vice closely associated with crime, makes solution difficult. However, it is obvious that if production can be confined to legitimate needs there will be no surplus to find its way into bootleg channels. This the new agreement seeks to effect.

The withdrawal of Turkey and Yugoslavia, two of the largest manufacturing nations, is unfortunate, but international pressure is expected to whip them into line. A more favorable development of the conference is the close restrictions to be applied for the first time to heroin, with recommendations for its abolition. This is on the basis of scientific advice that heroin is "the deadliest of all habit-forming drugs and the least useful." American ideas prevailed largely in the final draft, and it is to this nation's credit that the treaty deals not with war on bootleggers, surveillance of physicians and hounding of addicts, but on the Federal drug act largely provides, but in curbing the evil at the source. The drug traffic may be expected to dwindle and possibly die of attrition if the new provisions are rigidly enforced. International action is the only power that can bring that about.

Mr. Hoover's well known penchant for delegating to commissions the formulation of important national policies is again on view—this time in connection with Muscle Shoals. Last session when he vetted the Norris bill, which would have settled the question for all time, he proposed that the states of Alabama and Tennessee should set up a commission of their own to advise on plans for leasing the property. Accordingly, those states have each appointed three men, while Mr. Hoover has added three more to represent the Federal Government.

Mr. Hoover's appointees are Col. Harley B. Ferguson of the Corps of Engineers, Col. Joseph I. McMullen of the Judge Advocate-General's office, and—mirabile dictu!—Edward A. O'Neal of the American Farm Bureau Federation. Mr. O'Neal is supposed to represent agriculture on this remarkable commission. As to this the Baltimore Evening Sun says:

Why anyone should pick O'Neal to represent agriculture on anything is a mystery. If O'Neal has represented anything in Washington, it was not agriculture. He was, on the other hand, mighty intimate with the American Cyanamid Co. when it wished to lease Muscle Shoals. Farmers are generally regarded as opposed to leasing this site to private power companies, but O'Neal was pictured as one of the most active people in the fight to turn the development over to the power companies.

Of course, the commission will recommend that the power plant at Muscle Shoals be leased to private power companies. Its report will be submitted to Congress and, if Congress runs true to past performance, it will promptly be rejected. Congress has resisted many attempts to railroad this great public property into private hands, and has evolved its own plan of Government operation. Mr. O'Neal was quoted last winter as saying that "Congress has had Muscle Shoals for 10 years and has done nothing about it," though twice Congress passed the Norris bill, only to see it vetoed by two Presidents.

Mr. Hoover professedly wants to "get a war relic out of politics and into the realm of service," yet he and his predecessors are directly responsible for preventing its entrance into the realm of service. The issue, because of executive obstinacy and a demonstration of extraordinary sympathy with the ideas of the private power companies, now awaits the outcome of the tug of war between President and Congress. In this great battle, Mr. Hoover's commission will in all probability suffer the traditional fate of the peacemaker.

Some news for bankers. Some is mainly for lawyers and some for college professors. Some interests cite people more than farmers and some the other way around. But the other day there was an item for every man whose boyhood knew small town freedom in what O. Henry calls "the good old summer-time." It was about buried gold and it came from the little Central Illinois village of Buffalo, on the road out of Springfield which Lincoln once traveled as a circuit-riding lawyer. Two ditch diggers found a pair of pots containing $6000 in the yellow places. Buried gold! What memories the thought brings rushing back from the barefoot days. Memories of nights spent puzzling over "The Gold Bug's" cipher code. Memories of the sunken chests of "Treasure Island," with Long John Silver and the crown-faced pirates swinging their shining cutlasses in mortal combat in that forsaken isle's thick woods. Memories of Tom and Huck in the graveyard at midnight and what they saw Injun Joe do there by the light of the moon. Memories of stealthy excursions to the haunted house at the edge of town and all-day trips to the weed-grown corn patch behind the tumble-down river cabin where the old hermit died. Two pots of buried gold! Those ditch diggers may never get a single piece of their find, but theirs was the thrill that every American boy would sell his soul to know.

The significance of the Man with the Feather Duster's "Mirrors of 1932" lies not in the gibes directed at nine of the "candidates," but in the single instance of unadulterated praise. President Hoover is a "victim of self-pity—our first hair-shirt hero"; Gov. Pinchot is "Savoronola on a soapbox" and Al Smith the barefoot boy of the Biltmore Hotel. Senator Morrow he finds "brains but brittle," and in his eyes, Ritchie becomes the Graustarkian Prince of Maryland. Only for Newton D. Baker does the armor piercer speak the good word without stint. About President Wilson's Secretary of War, the Man with the Feather Duster says: "He is, by far, the ablest candidate for the presidency in the two major parties." With that opinion there are many to agree. For Baker's career, from his remarkable administration as Mayor of Cleveland to his work on the Wickham Commission, is the kind that appeals to the intellectual citizen. His recommendation that the eighteenth amendment be repealed and the prohibition question be placed before the states is certain power or later to be followed. Since the war he has worked assiduously for the League of Nations, world peace, a free press and legal reform. The country would and will hear much more about him during the next year.

Lesser things have influenced national policies, so seems quite plausible to assume that Toscanini's refusal to play the Fascist hymn at a symphony concert caused the Government to take over control of all theaters, opera houses and music halls in Italy. However, in this assuring patriotism of all entertainments, the Government opens the door to considerable annoyance. Ambitious young women whose names interviewed the manager while seeking a place in the ballet at La Scala now will storm the ministerial offices. Instead of reformers preaching on what is wrong with the drama, there will be fact-finding commissions snooping around stage doors. Legislative lobbying in favor of Calabrian chambers and against Venetian shames will put our own swift log-rolling to shame. Homely and hoarse-voiced daughters of Cabinet members will displace prima donnas who command no votes or political patronage. And audiences will have to like it, for hissing doubtless will mean swift departure for one of the prison islands. But with Mussolini's portrait painted on every asbestos curtain in the country, the shame doubtless will be viewed officially as a huge success.

Wisconsin's labor code, just signed by Gov. La Follette, is great advance for workers' cause; bill outlaws yellow dog contracts, forbids enjoining peaceful strikes, reforms injunction procedure, protects individuals in contempt cases; other states expected to follow suit; fighting chance for approval of statute by U. S. Supreme Court.

The most progressive piece of labor legislation in the country has just been enacted into law by the State of Wisconsin and signed by Gov. Philip La Follette. This is Wisconsin's labor code, introduced by Sen. Frank P. La Follette and Thomas Duncan. It is substantially the same bill as that recently introduced in Congress by Senator Henrik Shipstead and now endorsed by many prominent lawyers and labor leaders in the United States and out the country. It closely approximates the model labor bill drawn up by the Committee on Labor Injunctions formed by the American Civil Liberties Union, under the chairmanship of Charles F. Amidon, former United States Judge.

The main features of the bill are three: one dealing with the "yellow dog" contract, one dealing with procedure in cases of application for injunction and one defining the rights of labor organizations for contempt of court in injunction cases. In addition there is a general statement, a sort of bill of rights to introduce the various aspects of labor legislation. The measure then proceeds to outlaw the yellow dog contract, to define the rights of labor organizations as to the terms of his employment, not to join a specific labor union—declaring it to be "contrary to public policy" and not to afford any basis for legal or equitable relief in court. Next it declares that "whether or not a union is a labor organization" membership in a labor union, payment of union dues, giving publicity to strikes, peaceful assembly, peaceful picketing and, in general, the orderly conduct of strikes and labor disputes, shall be in all ways legal and that none of the foregoing acts may be enjoined by any court.

Most interesting, however, are the provisions with regard to the granting of injunctions. The bill removes entirely the possibility of the summary granting of ex parte injunctions, and provides that the court may issue an injunction only after clearly prescribed procedure designed to protect not only the complainant but the defendant. Injunctions may be granted only on a hearing where both sides are heard under oath; affidavits are no longer permissible as evidence of the necessity for an injunction. Ample evidence must be given that unlawful acts have been committed or are threatened and that public officers charged with the duty to prosecute the complainant are unable to furnish that protection. Due notice of proceedings must be given.

Temporary injunction may be issued—after sufficient proof of their need has been offered—only for a period of five days and only after a hearing has been had. During that time due notice must be given that the application for injunction has been made. Nor are temporary injunctions renewable. Although hearings have actually begun, the temporary injunctions have not taken force while they proceed. And, finally and in some ways most important, bond must be posted by the complainant to cover costs of the proceedings.

The provisions to cover contempt cases are equally far-reaching. Persons charged with contempt are liable to arrest and imprisonment similar to Wisconsin's unexcused non-appearance. With respect to the injunction procedure and to the limitations in temporary cases, the matter must be tried out in the circuit court. It has already been heard before the United States Supreme Court, and the temper of the body is such at present that labor may feel that it has secured a fighting chance of securing its rights in court. It is not clear, however, that the law is so favorable to the union as it seems. There is every reason to hope that the new Wisconsin law will remain in force, and that other laws similar to it will be put on the statute books in other states.

FOR months this city has been observing the investigation and trial of unfit judges, several of whom have either resigned from the bench, or been removed from it. Almost of equal importance is the prosecution in disbarment proceedings now going on, of several judges who, because the evidence brought out by him proves to be unfit to practice.

An incompetent judge is a sorry spectacle; a corrupt judge is an object of abhorrence and contempt. But a faithless or venal or bribing lawyer is a disgrace to the judicial system and a disgrace to the community. Lawyers themselves are officers of the court. They are under oath to promote the administration of justice without fear or favor. If there is a code of judicial ethics by which judges are bound, there is also one, fully as strict for lawyers. The just penalty for violating the disbarment.

Over unworthy members of the profession, the committees of the bar associations have a certain professional jurisdiction, but they can only recommend that offenders be expelled from the bar. In a similar way the present prosecution of the 15 accused attorneys can lead merely to a report of findings to the Appellate Division, which has the power of condign punishment.

It is doubtful if the public usually fully realizes the need for the highest character of lawyers. Sometimes "smart" attorneys who know how to get around the law and to serve unworthy clients in unworthy ways are praised for their astuteness and skill. Retainers without too many regard their lack of scruples. But to the profession as a whole, such men are abhorrent.

Every effort is made by the courts and by reputable lawyers to deny shady characters admission to the bar, but such efforts are often in vain. They will be spread in front of them. Hence the need of constant vigilance by honorable members of the bar, jealous for the repute of their profession, in order to bring to book those who would prostitute their abilities and trampled upon their sworn obligations.

Without in the least prejudicing the cases of the 15 lawyers now on trial for their official lives, it is proper to say that such an effort to cleanse the bar of members suspected of improper or rascally conduct should be regarded as a public service. It is really, when rightly viewed, of much the same sort as that performed by Judge Seabury in securing the dismissal of incompetent or conscienceless magistrates.

BATTLE OF THE BUGS IN LOUISIANA.
From the San Antonio (Tex.) Evening News.
TEN THOUSAND bugs—parasites which prey upon a pest invading Louisiana sugar cane fields—lately were taken to New Orleans by airplane from Peru. The friendly insects were distributed along a 10-mile front where the harmful species is most numerous. By this time the 10,000 have grown to 10,000,000, and within a month or so all the hungry bugs should be feasting on cereal bugs. The United States Bureau of Entomology, that for many years successfully has practiced setting one insect species on another, is directing the experiment. For this work the former chief of the Bureau, Dr. L. O. Howard, a veteran entomologist, lately received the Capper medal for distinguished service to agriculture.

Should the Louisiana test prove satisfactory, reinforcements will be brought up from Texas and distributed where needed.

Day by Day in Paris

By O. O. McIntyre

PARIS always offers the unusual in human contact. Dining at the next table in a cafe in rue Dupuy, last night was an obvious midwesterner—lonely and a bit garrulous. He apologized for his carafe of champagne by explaining that champagne gave him "the heartburn."

He inquired where I might be from. I told him that originally I was from Missouri. "I'm a mite farther west," he said, and added, "Colorado." After a few generalities he inquired my business and, being just as curious, I asked him to give me 700 guesses and then if you guess it," he replied.

Right away I gave up and it was a good thing, too. He sells glass eyes by mail. For a quarter of a century he has carried on with what he calls a Fit-U-at-Home plan of disposing of artificial eyes. For a few moments I thought I was being subjected to a bit of gentle kidding.

No strip of Paris is so vitally and electrically alive at night as the grand boulevard from the Place de la Opera to the Bastille. The sidewalks are a bright gush of city lights. The acres of outside tables are filled and the pavements are packed with promenaders. It is the Paris that makes one forget the backwaters of black and depressing streets that thread the town like ugly, shotless veins.

My garcon for breakfast was a young fellow with a Valentino profile and the shy gentility of his native Russia. There are thousands of them—aristocrats looking for a career in the city. He was expected to return to his country. "Not," he said, "unless one may visit the scenes one loves after death."

THE luxury mart of the world—the rue de la Paix—home of Cartier's, Worth, Rebour, etc., expresses a pronounced droop. Its fashionable shops are just as briskly enticing. The crowds drift through its three short blocks length but do not stop. Through windows one sees innumerable idle and sad-eyed clerks. No other section of Paris has been so badly hit.

DRIVING along Montparnasse toward The Dome this afternoon I heard a screaming "Hello!" and looked back to see a waving figure at the curb. It was S. J. Kaufman, former New York columnist and now a citizen of the world. We foregathered at a Dome table to watch the flow of humanity passing that is the oddest in the world. Rattlewrecks swathed in rags, wilding Viennese and French cocottes, hatless boys with portfolios of drawings, wide-hatted whiskered artists with floppy ties and equally floppy morals, purloined toy sellers, pock-marked villains, introvers, extrovers, panderers—the stagnant, thick scum of a world in perversion.

A BLACK suited and black neck tied Dome waiter—furnishing prophetic of the fate of habitués—dropped a card on my table. It was soiled and the name inked out. On the reverse side was scrawled: "Remember Kiefauber's Happy days?" It was a restaurant I used to patronize in Dayton, O. I looked about for a familiar face, but saw none.

AND in the tremulous twilight of my wife and I crossed the Seine to Paris St. Cloud to stroll on the velvety softness of dead leaves from century old maples. French fashion we walked with arm around waist. But an unromantic rock up-set the idyllic, tripping me into a ludicrous squall. (Copyright, 1931.)

JOHN G. NEIHARDT

An Unconscious Ironist

IT IS now a commonplace among those who sometimes stand outside our moment and view our social problems in time, that the French Revolution, far from having ceased with the Second Empire or the founding of the Republic, is a continuing performance, now apparently approaching its logical climax. This is only a way of saying what is obvious, that the view of life and of human relations ushered in by the invention of the steam engine, the industrial revolution and the consequent triumph of trading class ideals has continued to grow steadily in power, has become practically absolute all over the world, and is therefore revealing in its results the fallacy involved in it from the beginning. (Incidentally, to say as much is far from implying approbation of the Ancient Regime!)

The fallacy seems now to lie deeper than even the competitive-profit motive and is concerned with the great and steadily increasing emphasis laid upon the lower end of the scale of human values, where the senses dominate with their quantitative, "objective" conceptions, to the practical exclusion of the upper ranges of the scale that are farthest from the brute. Its astonishing and continuous practical triumphs in machine technology have automatically limited science to the sense aspects of the human world and given it unlimited prestige as a universally trustworthy authority, greatly reassuring to the lower instincts of men.

A curious notion was central in the situation, to the effect that now, at last, men had hit upon a relatively simple mode of thought and research whereby all truth that deserves the name could be run down in the "objective" world quite outside the human consciousness, much as rabbits could be chased and captured. But in this narrowly limited field nothing can be caught but what the field contains; and in chasing their scientific rabbits in the back lot of merely sense "reality," the visible human meanings were bound to escape, as they have.

This curious notion occasioned a mood of propitiosus optimism that reached its culminating height of absurdity in 1929, when experts were assuring us that a system had been perfected whereby all men would become rich, and richer and happier right on to Utopia!

In Winwood Reade's "The Martyrdom of Man," first issued in 1872 and now issued in a new edition, one finds a characteristic example of Victorian optimism based upon the potentialities of "Physical Science" conceived as omnipotent. Reade was well ahead of his time, not as a seer, for he did not see through the fog of the growing session and seems not even to have suspected what the results thereof might be. He was ahead of his time chiefly in that he adopted more readily than most of his contemporaries the logical implications of his time-mood, leaping years ahead to certain attitudes that have now become a matter of common acceptance.

Always quite naturally a great folly is accompanied by great optimism. Note the delirium in the following outburst from Victorian England 60 years ago:

"Thus man has taken into his service, and modified to his use, the animals, the plants, the earths and the stones, the waters and the winds, and the more complex forces of heat, electricity, sunlight, magnetism, with chemical powers of many kinds. By means of his inventions and discoveries, by means of the arts and trades, and by means of the industry resulting from them, he has raised himself from the condition of a serf to the condition of a lord. His triumph, indeed, is incomplete; his kingdom is not yet come. The Prince of Darkness is still triumphant in many regions of the world; epidemics still rage; death is yet victorious. But the God of Light, the spirit of knowledge, the divine intellect is gradually spreading over the planet and upwards to the skies. The beautiful legend will yet come true: Ormuzd will vanquish Ahriman; Satan will be overcome; virtue will descend from heaven, surrounded by her angels, and reign over the hearts of men. Earth, which is now a purgatory, will be made a paradise, not by idle prayers and supplications, but by the efforts of man himself, and by means of mental achievements analogous to those which have raised him to his present state. Those inventions and discoveries which have made him, by the grace of God, king of the animals, lord of the elements and sovereign of steam and electricity, were all of them founded on experiment and observation.

"That England may become as prosperous as America, it must be placed under American conditions; that is to say, food must be cheap, labor must be dear, emigration must be easy. It is not by universal suffrage, it is not by any act of Parliament that these conditions can be created. It is science alone which can Americanize England; it is science alone which can smelt, orate the condition of the human race."

Had Winwood Reade been saying irony he could scarcely have

Hence the need of constant vigilance by honorable members of the bar, anxious for the repute of their profession, in order to bring to book every practitioner who is known to have prostituted his abilities, and trampled upon his sworn obligations, for sordid gain.

140 ST. LOUIS POST-DISPATCH
GIVES UP TO KEEP POLICE FROM ANNOYING HIS MOTHER
Young Man Admits Holdups at Los Angeles to Deputies at East St. Louis

A young man who said he was Patrick O'Brien, 21 years old, surrendered to Deputy Sheriffs in East St. Louis last night and told them he was wanted in Los Angeles for many holdups there.

He surrendered because officers in Chicago had been annoying his mother at her home there, he told the deputies, and he preferred to give himself up rather than have her worried. The meeting place where the officers found him was at Fortieth and State streets.

A few minutes before a telephone call had come to Sheriff Munn at Belleville, and a young man said he was O'Brien and arranged to meet them. He said he had been indicted in 1923, and that he had been using the names of Charles Read and Bud Barnes since then.

ROUNDUP, SKINNY AS A RAIL yet he couldn't bear to eat!

Now feels "fit as a fiddle"—has gained 10 pounds, too

HARDLY enough flesh to cover his bones—yet he couldn't eat! His stomach rebelled at the very sight of food. Always tired, complexion bad—this was a desperate situation!

But today, what a difference! Read the story of Mr. Nash's amazing recovery in his own words:

"Before I started using Ironized Yeast my general condition was rundown. My appetite was very poor, my face pale, I was underweight and I practically always had a tired feeling."

"I have given Ironized Yeast a fair trial for two months and it has worked wonders for me. My appetite improved after the first week and I started to gain weight. After three weeks the paleness disappeared from my cheeks and the tired feeling vanished. I gained 10 pounds in two months, and now feel as fit as a fiddle." Louis Nash, 882 Kelly St., New York, N.Y.

This is only one of hundreds of letters we have received from folks once pale, rundown and underweight—now fit!

President Hoover's Proposal. The market failed to make notable response to President Hoover's proposal to the London conference, which, in brief, advocated cancellation of the postwar volume of foreign credit in Germany and selection of a committee, possibly by the Bank for International Settlements, to consider the further needs of Germany, including conversion of some of the long-term credits into long-term obligations.

While these suggestions may have been disappointing to interests in the immediate extension of national large credits to the banks, they were substantially in line with the views of some of the streets leading to the decision to pump another $500,000,000 or so of short term credit into a market which has not been popular in important Wall Street banking circles although from a stock market point of view, any feasible proposal which would immediately increase the central European situation would of course be greeted with enthusiasm.

continued drain upon the stock of England's gold stock emphasized the far reaching unsettledness created by the German crisis. At $1,000,000 in metal was withdrawn from the bank of England to pay for shipment of gold to the United States, continued losses of around $500,000 daily may be expected as the present foreign exchange situation continues. Unless new gold is injected into the situation, an early increase in the bank of England's discount rate seems probable, although the bank's policy is to stampeded into such has been applauded here.

MRS. HENDERSON
FORTUNE MAY GO TO GRANDCHILD

Effort of Missouri Senator's Daughter to Exclude Her,

Bulk of Estate.

Lawyers Speculate on Whether Testator Went Too Far in Ignoring Wills of Husband and Son.

By the Associated Press.
WASHINGTON, July 22.—The effort of the late Mrs. Mary E.
Henderson, capital society leader,
to prevent the Henderson millions from going to an adopted granddaughter, Mrs. Beatrice H.
Wholean, may result in the latter's getting the bulk of the fortune attached.

Under the will of the late Senator from Missouri, John B. Henderson, Mrs. Henderson's husband, and his son, John B. Henderson Jr.,
much of the property went to Mrs.
Wholean.

Lawyers were speculating today on whether Mrs. Henderson went too far in ignoring the other will-she left only $100 to her adopted granddaughter, the bulk of the property going to a niece and nephew in New York, Frances A. and Henry N. Arnold. Mrs. Henderson also left $200,000 to her Japanese secretary, half of it in trust.

Dispute With Granddaughter.
If Mrs. Henderson's last will, filed yesterday, should be declared invalid, the property would probably be disposed of by the law of descent. In that case, almost everything the wealthy dowager possessed would go to the granddaughter.

The two quarreled recently over Mrs. Henderson's offer to give a mansion to the Government as a permanent home for the Vice President. Mrs. Wholean went to in-court, asserting that Mrs. Henderson was incompetent to manage the huge estate and was dissipating its assets.

Mrs. Wholean's attorney, H. Pro-sser, said today he had asserted no instructions to attack the validity of Mrs. Henderson's will.

Five Wills Filed.
In addition to the last will, four earlier wills have been filed. One was prepared in 1924, one in 1926 and two in 1927. In the 1924 document Mrs. Wholean was named chief legatee.

The wealthy widow who died last week in Bar Harbor, Me., as early as July, 1927, however, restricted Mrs. Wholean's inheritance to a $100,000 trust fund, a residence to be chosen from scores owned by the dowager, and personal property.

Secretary of State's Home.
In February, 1927, Mrs. Henderson set aside her famous "Boundary Castle" as a bequest for the Government, to be used solely for an official home for the Secretary of State. It was at the height of a dispute with Mrs. Wholean over donating an official Vice President's home that the widow made her last will. This court fight is still unsettled.

Two other lifelong hobbies of Mrs. Henderson, "race betterment and biologic living," including antistimulants and vegetarian diet promotion, and concern over inhumane treatment in trapping animals, would have been furthered under the earlier wills.

"Having for many years been greatly concerned respecting the future of the human race because of the growing menace of degenerative influences, particularly through an unsuitable dietary and various poison habits, particularly the use of alcohol, tobacco, tea, coffee and other drugs," Mrs. Henderson said in the July, 1927 document, "I desire to make such use of the bulk of my fortune as will to the highest degree promote eugenics and encourage race betterment."

$10,000 for Humane Society.
At that time she designated the greatest portion of her estate for the Battle Creek College, Michigan.
In another document she specified $10,000 should go to the American Humane Association, headed by W.
K. Horton, at Albany, N. Y., for a campaign against steel traps.

Again, she provided large amounts for the Federation of Women's Clubs to promote the circulation of one book she had published and another she planned on dictating.
Once she said it was her intention to organize a national league to promote race betterment and biologic living.

Twice in 1927 and once the year preceding, Mrs. Henderson provided that her "remains shall be cremated after passing through the neck to be sure of death."
